

Introduction

My name is Fivos Avgerinos and I am a designer with a passion for interaction design, typography, simplicity and minimal aesthetics.

In 2012 I graduated from the University of Essex with an Honours BSc in Business Management. A year later, I graduated from the University of Westminster with an MSc in Logistics and Supply Chain Management while at the same time I started teaching myself how to code. My passion for design has been following me since before my studies and I have been working on freelance projects since 2010.

After graduation, I joined Longaccess as their only designer and worked closely with the developers for two years in conceptualizing, designing and coding the company's three products.

I have traveled extensively around the world and I have a passion for tennis and all things sea-related, from water-sports, to scuba diving, free diving and sailing.

Education

International Baccalaureate

Projects and Employment

Hellenic Army (January 2016-October 2016)
Served 9 months in the Hellenic Army (compulsory for Greek male citizens), working at the Ministry of National Defence.

UI/UX Design (Longaccess, 2013-2015)
Being the only designer in a startup focusing on cloud storage, I was in charge of conceptualizing, designing and coding our three products' interfaces (Longaccess, Deepfreeze.io, BigStash), as well as all graphic and marketing-related material.

Design (Babography, 2014)
Led design, consulted and redesigned the startup's landing page to give it a fresh and playful look that would appeal to parents looking to store the early memories of their children.

Freelance Design (2010-present)
Initially freelanced as a graphic designer, shifting to the web, covering projects varying from brand identity design, artwork, lettering, video to user interface design.

Skills

Design with a focus on the web, user experience, typography and minimal aesthetics; front-end development with a focus on SCSS and CSS architecture and code readability; Git source code management; experience with photo retouching and amateur photography.
